XIV INTERNATIONAL
STUDENT SCIENTIFIC CONFERENCE
(Hybrid Format)

Perspectives and Directions of Student Research

15 April 2025

Honorary Patronage of the Conference

Prof. Maciej Słodki, MD, PhD – Rector of Mazovian University in Płock

Scope and Purpose of the Conference

Student Scientific Conferences organised by Mazovian University in Płock are regular meetings of young researchers, providing a platform for students to present their academic achievements. The conference has an international and interdisciplinary character, welcoming speakers from other higher education institutions.

Students conduct scientific research at various stages of their education, including within their thesis projects, which allows for interesting interpretations and new perspectives to emerge. The main goal of the conference is to facilitate the exchange of knowledge, opinions, and experiences among participants while also enhancing public speaking skills, which are crucial for academic and professional development.

The conference covers a wide range of disciplines, including medical and health sciences, social sciences, humanities, natural sciences, and technical sciences. This diversity makes the event an excellent opportunity for young researchers from different fields to connect and collaborate.

We cordially invite you to participate!
